Sullivan Made Britt
Extend Himself Fully

Lost Decision in Twenty Rounds, But Was Always Carrying Fight All the Time.
Showing Surprised Frisco Critics.

WHAT THE PRINCIPALS HAVE TO SAY

(By JIMMY BRITT.)

Sullivan gave me a tough fight, just as I expected, but I was so sure of beating him that I would have staked my life on it. That kid has a punch that would faze the average fighter, but I had him well in hand from the start. Sullivan deserves credit for putting up one of the gamiest fights that I ever engaged in.

(By KID SULLIVAN.)

Britt beat me, according to the referee, but I was at least entitled to a draw. I gave him blow for blow, and at no stage of the game did he have me in trouble. When the Britt crowd thought I was all in, I was simply holding myself and in a few more rounds Britt would have been a beaten man. I want another back at him.

(By REFEREE WELCH.)

There was nothing for me to do but give the bout to Britt, as in my opinion he did most of the effective work. Sullivan put up a game fight and surprised even his friends, but Britt was entirely too fast for him. Britt's leads were always on top and aside from his aggressiveness his blows had more steam in them than Sullivan's. It was a hot fight from start to finish.

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Jimmy Britt won from Kid Sullivan in twenty rounds at Woodward's Pavilion, and while doing so, put up one of the grandest fights of his career.

In the main he boxed with top speed, and he employed all the punishing power he possessed. He used every blow that he has knowledge of, and at the same time battled along defensive lines and protected himself with marvelous cleverness.

Britt spent part of one round slugging up his muscular opponent. After that he cut loose and went out in the lead. He was like a jockey riding the race of his life. There were times when Sullivan drew level for a round or two, but never for a moment when Sullivan had a decided lead.

Kid Dead Game.

Sullivan was as game as the advance notices said he would be. His nose and mouth were swelling blood throughout most of the rounds, and Britt kept hooking him with left in the stomach, the most damaging punch that Britt employed.

But the "Kid" never flinched. He kept hurling himself at Britt in every round, and Britt had to bring into play his best notions of avoidance in order to escape the swings and uppercuts that were passing around his ears.

Britt baffled Sullivan at almost every point, and it was only while the men were holding each other that Sullivan scored with any effect. He used a short arm fight in the clinches and slapped Britt around the ribs and kidneys to good purpose.

Beat Britt's Kidneys.

Jimmy did not wince, but for all that the marks of Sullivan's handiwork were in evidence before many rounds had passed. Britt's left side had an inflamed appearance, and when he sat in his chair between rounds it looked as though there was a swelling of the flesh above his left hip.

Sullivan found Britt's head hard to reach. As a matter of fact, the only telling smash on the face that Sullivan got in was during a bungle at the end of the seventh round.

Jimmy Nearly Out.

The men were in a mix, and Britt was digging his left into Sullivan's midriff. As Sullivan leaned his blood-covered face on Britt's shoulder, "Spider" Kelly, in the Britt corner, shouted directions of some kind. The principal, Sullivan looked toward Kelly and gave a jeering yell, and just about that time the bell rang. Britt apparently did not hear it, for he stood back and straddled Sullivan a hard right-handed blow on the mouth. As he did so, Sullivan countered him fairly on the chin with the right and knocked Britt against the ropes. The referee then jumped forward and separated the men, who were hustled to their corners.

Britt fought like a demon in the following round. He drew back just far enough to allow Sullivan's right swings to flash by his face, and then he unloaded his right smash on the Kid's jaw. Sullivan dropped to his knees, and when he arose he took to holding on for a while in order to give his head a chance to lead.

Britt maintained his lead until round twelve came along. There was a good deal of slugging in this three-minute spell and Sullivan held his own.

Sullivan's Powerful Blows.

In the next round Sullivan caught Jimmy a left-hander solar plexus blow, the fiercest punishment inflicted by Sullivan during the whole fight. Britt bent his body and backed away, and the expression on his face made it apparent that the wind was knocked out of his sails.

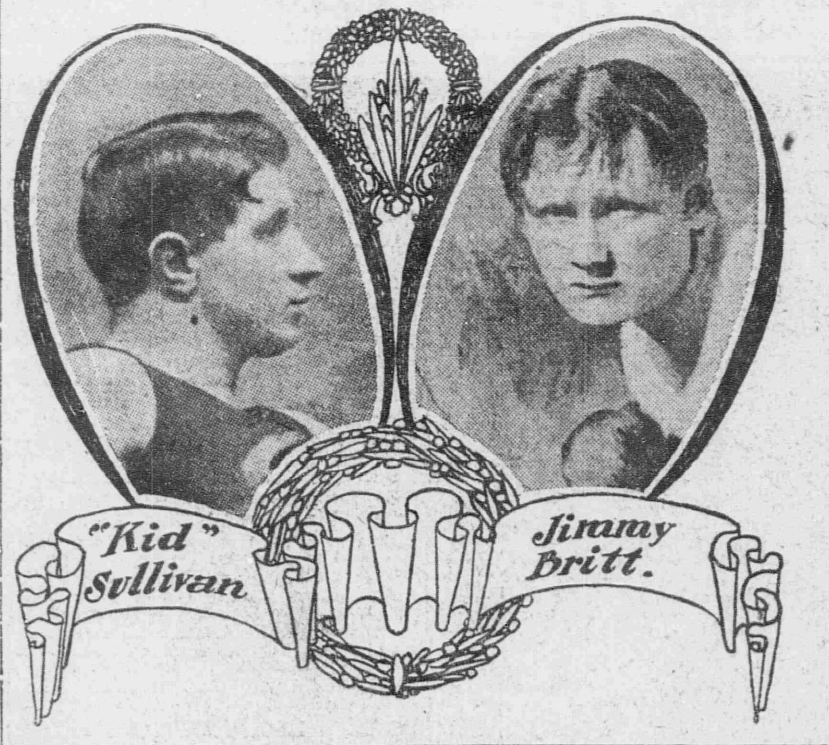

The crowd upstairs yelled its approval of Sullivan's achievement, and Britt's seconds cried out to him to take it easy. Britt gathered himself together gamely, and the balance of the round saw Jimmy side-stepping and see-sawing while Sullivan kept charging at him, but failed to get within hitting distance.

Last Five Britt's.

By the time the fifteenth round was in full swing Britt had entirely recovered from the effects of the solar plexus smash in the thirteenth. He established a strong lead and there was never a doubt as to how the decision would go unless Sullivan happened to bring the battle to a certain termination with a well-placed punch before the twentieth round was finished. So the fight went to the length prescribed by the articles.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—A feature of the Britt-Sullivan fight last night which was overlooked by many of those present was the claim by Sullivan that he broke his hand in the tenth round, and for that reason could not deliver the punishment in fighting or sparring of which he is capable.

It was noticeable in the early rounds that Sullivan was much more aggressive than he was later, and it is possible that he may have been handicapped as he claimed. Still it was in the third round that Sullivan landed a blow on the solar plexus which might have finished Britt had the Washington boxer been clever enough to follow his advantage.

Personal Comment on Men and Things in the Field of Sports

BASEBALL.

The warm weather has had a fine effect upon Lew Dill, and the former Senator is catching a great game for Detroit.

Deleahanty, of the Boston Nationals, is getting to be quite a home run hitter.

Silk O'Loughlin is going to get married. He will have to listen to reason then.—Detroit News.

President Taylor, of the Boston Americans, is a great golfer. He plays in nearly all the big tournaments about the Hub.

After Kid Nichols had agreed to play with the Phillies he received a better offer from the New York Americans, but as he had already put his John Hancock to a contract he had to go to Quaker town.

In 1883 the Boston club was holding down last place in the National League, but before the end of the season the club of culture team had worked itself up to the top of the list. No team could do that today.

Howard Murphy, who made the best record of any of the hitters in the Cotton States League, has been signed by George Tebeau for the Louisville club.

Al Orth has certainly been pitching fine ball of late for the Highlanders.

Capital City League Race.—St.

The Aloysius aggregation of ball tossers continued its winning streak yesterday and pulled the Columbia Athletics out of first place in the Capital City League, where, through the victory over St. Stephen's the day before, it had climbed.

ST. JOHN'S LUTHERAN
WON IN LUCKY NINTH

St. John's Lutheran team yesterday defeated the Concordia Sunday School by 11 to 10 on the Monument grounds. The game was close until the lucky ninth, when St. John's won.

St. John's Lutheran—H. M. Wiegand, second base; Hermann, third base; Stuermann, right field; H. R. Wiegand, first base; Benner, center field; Kosack, short stop; Hoffman, catcher; Cogan, left field; Merker, pitcher. Concordia—E. Mori, short stop; Krumke, second base; Schulz, left field; Vessmuth, first base; Plege, center field; A. Mori, catcher; pitcher; Escherich, right field; Ruppertus, third base; Harrison, pitcher, second base. Both teams are composed of boys from 14 to 18 years old and would like to play uniformed teams of the same average age. Challenges for St. John's Lutheran to K. Volecker, Library of Congress, manager of the team, and for Concordia to A. Mori, care Concordia Church, Eighteenth and G streets northwest.

If it were not for the work of the former Senator the Gothams would be even farther down in the American race.

Jimmy Mullen, the National second baseman who was sold to Baltimore, has been making good. Besides fielding nicely Mullen has been spanking out a hit or two with great regularity.

The trick of smearing the ball with lard to offset the spitball has traveled all around the circuit. Kid Gleason used it successfully against Pitcher Wright at Philadelphia the other day.

The Naples Naps is the latest nickname that has been sewed onto Cleveland since Lajolo has been forced to quit the team on account of injuries.

The physicians who are attending Larry Lajolo have promised that the king of ball players will be back in the game in three weeks. In the meantime, can Cleveland hold first place?

Rube Waddell has lost the trophy watch fob which he received as a member of the champion Athletic team. Several offers to the finder have already been made.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Varley and Mulcahy, the two American scullers who carried off the Kaiser's cup in the international doubles at the recent German regatta, will arrive in New York on July 30, which will allow them to row at the national regatta at Baltimore two weeks later.

Judging from his work in recent practice, Ralph Rose should hang up a new record for the coming coming championship meet at Portland.

FOUNDRY REGAINS

Foundry is again back in its old place in the Government Printing Office League, displacing the Blanks by taking an easy victory from Columbia, the tallenders. Bailey and Brown both pitched good ball, and had Bailey been given even decent support would have held the Foundry down to four runs.

JIM HALL ARRESTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

CHICAGO, July 22.—Jim Hall, one-time champion of Australia, who fought with Robert Fitzsimmons for the biggest purse ever offered in a prize ring, is under arrest at the Desplains street station on a charge of attempted robbery.

He was arrested on West Madison street on the complaint of Henry Wild, who declares Hall was one of the three men who attempted to pick his pocket on a West Madison street owl car.

GANS' TEAM WON.

Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, and his team of ball tossers returned to Washington yesterday and downed the Eastern Empire, of this city, by 11 to 10. The fielding of both teams was very fast. This afternoon at 5 o'clock Gans' team plays the East Washington Giants at National Park.

LAW REPORTERS AT LAUREL.

The weekly game of the Law Reporters' team for this afternoon is scheduled at Laurel with the strong team that represents that town. The Law Reporters will go to Norfolk on August 4 and 5 for two games with the Collegians of that city and on August 12 will meet the Baltimore and Ohio Athletic Association at Baltimore.

VETERAN WILLIS
NOT EXAMINED

Medico-Legal Men Were Refused Permission.

DR. WHITE OBJECTED

Interview With Subject at St. Elizabeth's Also Stopped by the Asylum Officials.

Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane, yesterday refused to permit two members of the Medico-Legal Society of the District to make an examination of the mental condition of Alexander M. Willis, an alienist inmate, confined in the institution. Willis is a veteran of the civil war, who was transferred from the Soldiers' National Home in Michigan to St. Elizabeth's about two years ago for treatment for his supposed mental troubles. He was never adjudged to be insane by a jury or any other competent judicial tribunal.

Some days ago Willis sought his release from the asylum through habeas corpus proceedings. Justice Wright, who heard argument on the proposition, directed that Willis be remanded to the custody of Dr. White, as superintendent of the asylum, until Monday next. If at that time justice Wright directed, proceedings are not instituted to determine the sanity of Willis, he will order his discharge from custody, on the ground he was not committed to the institution as the result of the finding of a jury.

As a result of the agitation of the status of Willis, the matter was taken up for consideration by the Medico-Legal Society, which employed Richard P. Evans as counsel to investigate the conditions under which Willis is being confined in the asylum.

Yesterday Attorney Evans accompanied by Drs. Robert Rebyrn and Charles M. Emmons, called upon Superintendent White and asked that the physicians be allowed to make an examination of Willis' mental condition. This privilege was denied them. Mr. Evans was, however, allowed to have a brief interview with the subject. This, however, was in the presence of two asylum officials. The nature of the questions propounded Willis seemed to be objectionable to the asylum physicians, and Mr. Evans was compelled to bring his examination to an abrupt close.

When Mr. Evans and Drs. Rebyrn and Emmons returned to the city they called upon Justice Wright at the City Hall and explained the case to him. Prior to this the matter had been conducted under the advice of Corporation Counsel, to whom it was referred by the Commissioners to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior. From there it went to the Department of Justice. After making an investigation of the subject Solicitor General Hoyt returned it to the District Attorney Beach for final action.

It is expected there will be some interesting developments in the case on Monday, when it comes up before Justice Wright for final decision. At that time the proceedings have not been instituted, either by the commissioners or Superintendent White to determine the sanity of Willis, he will be released into custody by the court in accordance with the order passed on Tuesday last.

LARGE CROWDS VISITED
CHEVY CHASE LAKE

The large crowds that visited Chevy Chase Lake every evening of the past week would certainly justify one in thinking that there was no other cool spot like it near Washington. Hundreds have enjoyed the invigorating ride via the swift electric cars over the breeze swept hills, and naturally all the amusements at the lake have received a lion's share of attention.

The greatest attractions are the evening concerts by the Marine Band Orchestra, and the special program arranged for the week have been heard by larger audiences than ever. The concerts over the dancing pavilion become the mecca for many, and the music is kept up for these throngs until closing time. An especially interesting series of motion pictures is being displayed by the Chevy Chase Lake car.

Those who wish to enjoy a delightful cool ride after twilight will find the ride in the Chevy Chase Lake cars always satisfactory.

CYNICAL LONDON
GREATLY AMUSEDBaronetcy for Promoter
Creates a Sensation.

WAS ONE OF KING'S HONORS

Birthday "Present" to Sir Julius Werneher Reveals a Story Not Generally Known.

LONDON, July 22.—Cynical London is laughing over the manner in which a baronetcy was conferred on Sir Julius Werneher at the recent distribution of honors on the King's birthday.

Sir Julius is head of the firm of Werneher, Belt & Co., the enormously wealthy South African firm which was associated with the late Cecil Rhodes in the control of the diamond market and in his many schemes for the exploitation of South Africa.

The amusement created by the story back of the conferring the baronetcy on Mr. Werneher is met strongly with indignation in some quarters, and questions are being asked which may prove embarrassing to the government responsible for the elevation of Sir Julius.

This is the story. About two years ago Lord Rosebery made the announcement that "certain public spirited citizens," afterward found to be Werneher, Belt & Co., had offered to give $1,500,000 for the endowment of a college of applied science in London, modeled on the famous institution at Charlottenberg.

The president of the board of education appointed a committee to formulate plans for the great institution and the London county council agreed to spend $100,000 a year in maintaining the institution. The matter has gone on, plans made, site selected, and preliminary work done.

In the meantime Mr. Werneher, head of the firm which had made the magnificent offer, has become Sir Julius. Now it appears from a report of the departmental committee having the matter in charge, that the "magnificent offer" has shrunk to $150,000 to the modest $500,000, and that because of the market condition of South African shares this has not yet been paid. At the most it will not be sufficient to carry out the plans and unless the government, the University of London, the county council and other public and semi-public bodies take up the matter, the whole scheme may have to be abandoned.

Sir Julius, however, has his baronetcy and there is no chance of its being abandoned.

Drunkards Cured
In One Day

Any Lady Can Do It Secretly at Home.
Costs Nothing to Try.

An odorless and tasteless remedy when put in the drunkard's coffee or food will destroy all desire for drink. This remedy is so simple that anyone can use it and the drunkard need never know why he quit drinking intoxicating liquors.

Many have been cured in one day with a free trial alone.

Mrs. Agnes Carroll, California, Minn., says: "The trial package so turned my husband against liquor that he hates the sight or smell of it now. She writes: 'I have had will bless you for it.'"

Mrs. Mattie Balkins, Vancouber, Ky., says: "My husband took two doses of your medicine about five months ago, and has not taken a drink or had any desire for liquor since then. Our home is so different now."

Mary L. Harris, Lewiston, N. C., writes: "The sample you sent me has cured my husband of the drink habit. May God bless you, for you have blessed me with a happy home."

Mrs. Mable Zink, R. F. D. No. 6, Salem, Ore., says: "My husband has not touched liquor since I gave him the sample package of your Golden Specific."

It is a physical impossibility for anyone to drink intoxicating liquors and take this medicine.

If anyone desires to try this marvelous remedy, Dr. W. Haines, 414 Glen building, Cincinnati, Ohio, will gladly send a free trial package, that they may see how easily it may be used and how positive its effect is.
